It was the third straight loss for the Texans (4-4), but they could still be playing meaningful games in the final six games of the regular season if they can climb to 6-4, their first winning mark in five games. Kubiak said last week that he would evaluate the team's performance in the loss and discuss the matter with head coach Bill O'Brien. "I thought it was good," O'Brien said of Fitzpatrick on Friday. "I know he's frustrated about the last two games. I know he's frustrated because he wants to play well, but he has to come back and he has to deal with that. "I told him before the game, we're not going to do anything different in any aspect, whether it be formations, whether it be personnel, whether it be the defense, everything has to be exactly the same. I was concerned about the receivers, because they were kind of all over the place, but they did a good job, I thought, of getting open. When you have somebody like (Julio) Jones, he's a great player." Fitzpatrick completed 20 of 27 passes for 186 yards and a touchdown in the loss to the Patriots. He went 24-for-37 for 331 yards and two touchdowns in the Texans' two-game winning streak, highlighted by a 36-yard touchdown to Andre Johnson in the first quarter and a 36-yard score to Johnson and a 44-yard score to DeVier Posey in the fourth quarter. But Fitzpatrick has struggled since losing the job to Geno Smith in Week 5. He has gone 4-for-8 for 63 yards in the last two games, including an interception and a fumble. "He needs to be back in that [start] role," O'Brien said. "He needs to be at that quarterback position 82157476af
